Costs

The cost of studying in Germany is similar to the cost of spending an equivalent period of time on the McMinnville campus. Students pay regular Linfield tuition, technology fee and a program fee. Housing is paid directly to the overseas institution. Linfield pays the round-trip airfare from PDX for qualified students' first study abroad experience. Out-of-pocket expenses, passport and visa fees, and local or regional travel are the responsibility of the student. Linfield students may use their financial aid while abroad.

Estimated budgets for personal expenses can be obtained in the International Programs Office.

Nürtingen campus, Germany

Spend a semester or year in Germany, a landmark of economic, political, and social innovations. There are two potential locations for students. Nürtingen-Geislingen University (HFU) has two campuses as the name suggests: one in Nürtingen and the other in Geislingen, about 40 minutes apart from each other. The campus will be chosen for the student depending on the area of study or major of the participant.

Selection Criteria

The program is open to sophomores, juniors and seniors in good academic and social standing. A minimum cumulative GPA of 2.75 at the time of application is required to participate. Students cannot participate in both a semester abroad and January Term off-campus course in the same academic year without special permission from the International Programs Office.

Housing

Students live in campus dorms during their study in Germany and do their own cooking. They will pay housing fees directly to the university.

Curriculum

Students are required to take 30 ECTS per semester, which equals 15 Linfield credits. These credits do not correlate to hours spent in the classroom and thus vary by course.

The international course catalog lists the ECTS equivalents for each class and can be found on HFWU's website.

Nürtingen-Geislingen University

There are more than 50 courses at the Nürtingen campus taught in English, and most have a business focus: marketing, finance and accounting, international business and management, economics, international management and organizational behavior, and German language and culture. Furthermore, students benefit from activities such as organized excursions and a buddy system. The Geislingen campus offers a variety of courses, but all courses are taught in German, so the student must be proficient in the language. Fall semester runs from approximately Sept. - January; spring semester goes from early-March until the end of July.

Buddy System

Every semester NGU Nuertingen-Geislingen University hosts exchange students from our partner universities. The international office tries to make their stay in Nuertingen and Geislingen as enjoyable as possible. The buddy program does just that: it pairs up an exchange student with a native student to make life in the new environment easier and more fun.

For students coming to Germany there is a lot to think of: register the place of residence, open a bank account... etc. A buddy can guide exchange students through these administrative duties and helps to integrate the newcomer into day-to-day student life.

It's up to the student and buddy to decide how to handle the partnership but the international office encourages the native student to show his/her partner the university, the region and sights. Furthermore, the international office organizes trips and other events exclusively for exchange students and their buddies.

We do hope that all incomers feel comfortable at NGU Nuertingen-Geislingen University right from the start!
